VERMOUTH

ITALY

BORDIGA, Turin

15

BIANCO is based on Piedmont white wines, and infused with dozens different botanicals from the nearby Occitan Alps.

EXTRA DRY is a more restrained version, mainly infused with camomile and juniper. A more serious vermouth.

AUSTRALIA

FUTURE PERFECT Bitter Moon Hobart/Lutruwita, Tasmania

Pinot and chardy pressings, medium sweetness. Botanicals native and not, some homegrown at FP. Sip, swirl it. Spritz it.

SHERRY

SPAIN

LUSTAU, Jerez

14

The 'Sherry Triangle' of Andalusia, southern Spain, where local (and rare) air creates a waxy, foamy live flor, whose thickness dictates the oxidative nature of the short, luxurious and famous aperitif.

Each of these three LUSTAU (Jerez OG) represent the different styles and flavours from the tripex of the 'Sherry Triangle'.

FINO Jerez - Intense golden colour with amber reflections. Pungent nose. Yeast, white bread, chalk and butter nuances.

FINO El Puerto de Santa Maria - dry, but dry-rich, broad on palate. Almonds. Bright golden.

MANZANILLA Sanlúcar de Barrameda - dry, bright, fresh; notes of seaspray.

PINOT GRIS/GRIGIO

'Gris' - Fr: Grey; 'Grigio' - It: Grey. Though not always the case, p.gris is known for its refreshing citrus, whilst p.grigio takes on honeyed notes - honeysuckle, pear - finishing with a saline-line mineralness.

YARRA VALLEY

The Yarra Valley is the calling card of Australia's international chardonnay reputation; it's cool-climate and world-class names making wine closely aligned with Burgundy. Yarra Yering, established in 1969, is the jewel-in-the-crown; producing earthshakingly good wine. Giant Steps too with a little new pep-in-their-step Circle of Fifths' 5-vineyard selection blend.

MORNINGTON PENINSULA

Mornington Peninsula - region of maritime climate that splits itself into 'up-the-hill' and 'down-the-hill' sub-regions. Soil has a bit to say here with chardy: up-the-hill (red clay soil) chardonnay is floral, with brighter acid than the down-the-hill wines: structured, full-bodied, grown from sedimentary brown loam.

PINOT NOIR

AUSTRALIA

VICTORIA

YARRA VALLEY

The Yarra Valley is Australia's premier cool-climate p. noir region, with Yarra Yering an international standout. Rule of thumb (i): Yarra Valley - light-to-medium bodied, strawberry and spice. The cultivar of Australian p. noir culture, headed finely by the masterful Yarra Yering, wines of which are luxury to drink.

Established in 1997, Giant Steps is very, very close to our hearts: its recent renaissance bearing a quality range of wines: all delicious, all made to express their unique difference, and representing best what the Yarra Valley can do.

Bastard Hill is a 31-hectare property with 13-hectares (32 acres) of vines, planted exclusively to Chardonnay and Pinot Noir. The vineyard's expressive name is derived from its steep slope and high altitude, ranging in elevation from 300-400m. Very, very, very good wine, and very, very, very sought after.

Mornington Peninsula - rule of thumb (ii): this very polished region of maritime climate splits itself into 'up-the-hill' and 'down-the-hill' sub-regions: dark and brooding p.noir, thick with whispers of soy sauce and asian spice made a few miles up only from some pretty, ethereal pinots with clever cherry and a sexy salinity.

GAMAY

Gamay has long suffered from bad marketing but is a pretty, purple-berried grape that makes wine with strong purple fruit flavours, anise, violet, and musk.

Wine tricks tame the high acids, making a type of wine to be drunk whilst young and fresh. But at the same time, Gamay is now treated as a serious wine variety.

FRANCE

FLEURIE wines are some of the most sought-after, and often express a softer, more feminine style, thus explaining the subregions nickname, "The Queen of Beaujolais". Jane Eyre is a well-regarded and multi-awarded Australian winemaker making wine in both Beaujolais and Burgundy.

SYRAH

Syrah is the variety's original name in the north Rhone, it's French birthplace, where it is sometimes blended with the white Rhone grapes). The difference between 'Syrah' and 'Shiraz', is that Syrah is generally lighter in body and alcohol, and has more polished tannins than the fuller, richer Shirazes...

NORTHERN RHONE

Mistral wind that cools the North. Rhone, where the only red grape allowed, Syrah, flourishes, as does the superb blending whites that (when allowed) add delicacy and perfume to syrah wines. Subregions enjoy different blending rules:

CABERNET SAUVIGNON

From its regality of Bordeaux, Cabernet Sauvignon is, truly, the king of wines. Thanks to a major river system that famously splits Bordeaux into two sub-regions, and sub regional styles (Left Bank - Cabernet-based wine; and Right Bank, where merlot is either bottled as a single variety or as its dominant grape). Classified by wine law in 1855, somehow it has fallen out of favour in the last 50 years (much to do with the popular advent of chardonnay, pinot and shiraz). But due as much to its sexy new shorthand (BDX) as well as cycles of style, BDX will soon be back in the dress circle...

CABERNET FRANC

Lighter than its 'son', c. sauvignon, c. franc is often blended with it and melot, in Bordeaux, but c. franc makes a fine single varietal in Chinon, on the Loire River: bright raspberry aroma and peppery, violet-like flavours.
